SCARSDALE, N.Y. -- Dr. Sapan Polepalle is joining the Advanced Urology Centers of New York.

Advanced Urology Centers of New York is the largest independent provider of urology services in the U.S., Polepalle, a board certified urologist and a member of the American Urological Association, who is fluent in English and Spanish, will be based in two offices: AUCNY Brooklyn and AUCNY Bronx North.

"Dr. Polepalle is an outstanding addition to the AUCNY team," said Dr. Deepak A. Kapoor, president of AUCNY. "He is a well-respected physician for his professionalism and clinical acumen. We are excited about expanding access to services with our two new locations."

Polepalle's "commitment to excellence was recognized" while doing his medical school studies at Northwestern University Medical School, when he was selected for the competitive MD-MBA joint degree program at the Kellogg School of Management, representatives said. In addition to clinical distinction, he has contributed to peer-reviewed publications and presented at national urology meetings.

"I'm grateful that I can continue offering services to the residents of Brooklyn and the Bronx," said Polepalle. "Being part of the country's largest independent urology group practice will allow me to better serve these communities with greater access to state-of-the-art technologies and services."
